

1. Cookies and their use

1.1 For the proper functionality of Service Provider's website, it stores small data files called cookies into the Client device. A cookie is a small text file that the Service Provider's website stores on the Client's computer or mobile device when they visit the Service Provider's website. As a result, the Service Provider's website may for some time "recall" the Client's actions and options (for example, the registration name, language, font size and other display options), and the Client does not need to re-enter that information each time they visit the site or browse on various pages of the site.

1.2. The Service Provider uses cookies to determine the habits of Clients visiting the website, to improve the experience of the Clients visiting the website, and to provide personalized services to the Clients. Cookies information may include data on how the Client uses the website, the IP address of his computer, browser type, demographic data, and, if the Client came to the Service Provider's website from a third-party website, the URL of the page link. If the Client is a registered user, it may include data, such as the Client's user name and e-mail address that can be processed by server registration. Cookies enable the website to function more efficiently and improve its services, as well as to provide information to website administrators for statistics or marketing purposes.

1.3. The Service Provider uses the information received by cookies for the following purposes:

1.3.1. to determine returning, registered Clients to open such Content or Services ordered by such Clients;

1.3.2. to prevent re-registration for the Clients that are already registered.

1.3.3. To monitor the customer's website usage habits in order to provide the actual content of the Client and to improve the portal according to the requests of the Client;

1.3.4. Service development and targeted marketing orientation;

1.4. Client agrees to the usage of cookies in the following ways:

1.4.1. Registering on the provider's portal for the first time;

1.4.2. if the Client's Browser accepts cookies without deleting them and / or changing them;

1.4.3. Clicking on the "I accept" tag on the site, registration forms and / or accounts provided by the Service Provider's Cookies link.

1.5. The service provider may, without violating the law, combine the information obtained through the use of cookies with the information received on the person by other means, such as information on the use of the services.

1.6. The third parties mentioned above can collect both anonymous and personal Client information for personal advertising purposes, as well as use of both session cookies and regular cookies valid for a certain period of time. For more details on third-party cookies and privacy policies, Client may become aware of the specific third-party privacy policy.